TALKS CHILD WORK

Stresses Need of United Action In Doing Great Work.

Bob Gordon, State Commander of the American Legion, on his first visit to the local post, last night in his address stressed active cooperation of every member of the Legion in its child welfare and rehabilitation work as an essential in the success of the movement.

In his address Mr. Gordon outlined the work being done by the national and state organizations, told why it was being done, and paid a glowing tribute to the Legion Auxiliary of the country for its untiring, unselfish efforts toward the betterment of child life.

Commander Gordon was here as a guest of Leslie Huddleston Post and expressed keen pleasure at meeting post members and noting the enthusiasm with which they are entering upon another year's work.

Post officers were hosts to members at a "chow line party," held at the armory, the event proving one of the most successful in the varied activities of the post since its organization.

Selection of officers for the ensuing year was a major order of business, disposed of quickly and without argument. On motion the entire staff, from Chaplain to Post Commander, were re-elected, not a dissenting vote being cast. They are: Barney Hanna, commander; Robert Wilson, service officer; Carter Johnson, finance officer; Roy Allen, adjutant; Francis A.

Tourists Gold In Britain More Than Reparations

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Tourists eager to see Westminster abbey and go punting on the Thames left more money in England this summer than Great Britain's share in the German reparations payments for a whole year.

During the five months ending September 1, travel agency officials estimate, visitors from abroad spend approximately $125,000,000 in the British Isles.

That is $10,000,000 more than Great Britain's enlarged annual share of the Young plan reparations payments as agreed on at the Hague after Philip Snowden's sensational battle for a new deal.

Visitors from Europe and the British dominions accounted for only 2 per cent of the tourist crop; the rest were Americans.

WAS FINISHED JOB

Break Into Place Next Door and Cut Hole Through Wall

LITTLE ROCK, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The theft of furs valued at more than $35,000.00 from E. Lamparello Co., furriers, was reported to the police here today. The furs had been taken from a fur cold storage vault, many of them individually owned and left for storage.

Entrance was effected by the thieves breaking into a washing machine store next door and cutting a hole through a plaster wall into the fur establishment.

None of the pieces taken were valued at less than $275.00. In the lot were 70 coats and 20 neck pieces. Lamparello stated to police that all the better pieces were taken while the moderately priced were undisturbed.

The clothes vault was a metal cabinet affair, while the cold storage was of brick, with a one-bolt combination, into both of which the thieves gained entrance. No clues were left behind by which the culprits might be identified.

Police investigating the matter are of the opinion that the work was done by professional fur thieves, some of the number having intimate knowledge of fur values.

Lee Foster Gets Reputation At Baptist Hospital

During the summer Lee Foster, good citizen of Hope and perhaps as widely known as any man here, was confined in the Baptist hospital at Memphis. While convalescing, Mr. Foster visited with hospital attaches and had some what to say of Hope watermelons.

One day his veracity was assailed as to the size of some of the melons and demand made he substantiate his claims.

Well, sir, Mr. Foster thought he had seen all the nurses in the hospital. The largest one he had met weighed not more than 130 and he proposed to make his word good, to send a melon weighing as much as any nurse in the institution.

Then they called him. Oh, how they called him! And brought out a nurse weighing not an ounce less than 200 pounds. He hadn't met her yet!

And all Mr. Foster is doing since he came home is hoping Oscar Middlebrooks or some other grower raises a melon as large as the nurse so he can keep his record straight with the surgical staff of that hospital!

Out of the darkness of the night, All-conquering, comes day. Cloud-roses, angle-pink and white, Shine through the shadows gray: And mists, that hid the sun from sight, Float dreamily away. Into our hearts shine light and peace, Glad birds of promise sing, Of love that lasts, of joy that stays. For God made everything, Across earth's dim-cloud-shadowed ways, Beams love, all-conquering.

Unfortunate

MOST people, doubtless, will read with a good deal of regret that the veteran soldiers of the Grand Army of the Republic have rejected the plan for a joint convention next year with the United Confederate Veterans.

The Confederate veterans had endorsed the idea, but the G. A. R. proved adamant.

"When they admit they were wrong in '61, and not until then, we will join with them," said one determined Union veteran.

North and South, there will be genuine disappointment over this attitude. It is 64 years now since the last gun was fired in the Civil war. One might have hoped that 64 years would have been time enough to remove from the hearts of the heroes of the north the last vestige of bitterness against the heroes of the south.

The Dainty Pig

ONE by one, our cherished old traditions and by-words vanish.

From time immemorial, there was no more scathing way of describing a man's table manners than to say that he "ate like a pig." Yet now the Department of Agriculture comes forward with the remark that when the modern self-feeder is installed in a pig pen, so that the pig may help himself whenever the spirit moves him, the pig proves as delicate and dainty an eater as the animal world can furnish.

Indeed, the department says bluntly that the pig's bad manners are forced upon him by his human owners. They are not in his nature. He wants to be refined and somewhat abstemious, and given half a chance he is.

It's fine news, of course. But it kills one of our oldest quips.

Keeper of the Keys

UPON the day we entered the new Ayer building . . . a small boy . . . eager, bright-eyed, thrilled with the discovery of a new market . . . established his headquarters before the graven symbols on our doors. . . .

In this small boy we recognize the living, vital emblem of the force that is created within these walls. For he is the immediate salesman of the Press! Without him, your business and our influence might dwindle to mean proportions. This courageous little Mercury is truly a messenger of the gods of commerce . . . and truly a keeper of keys to greater commercial opportunities for us all.

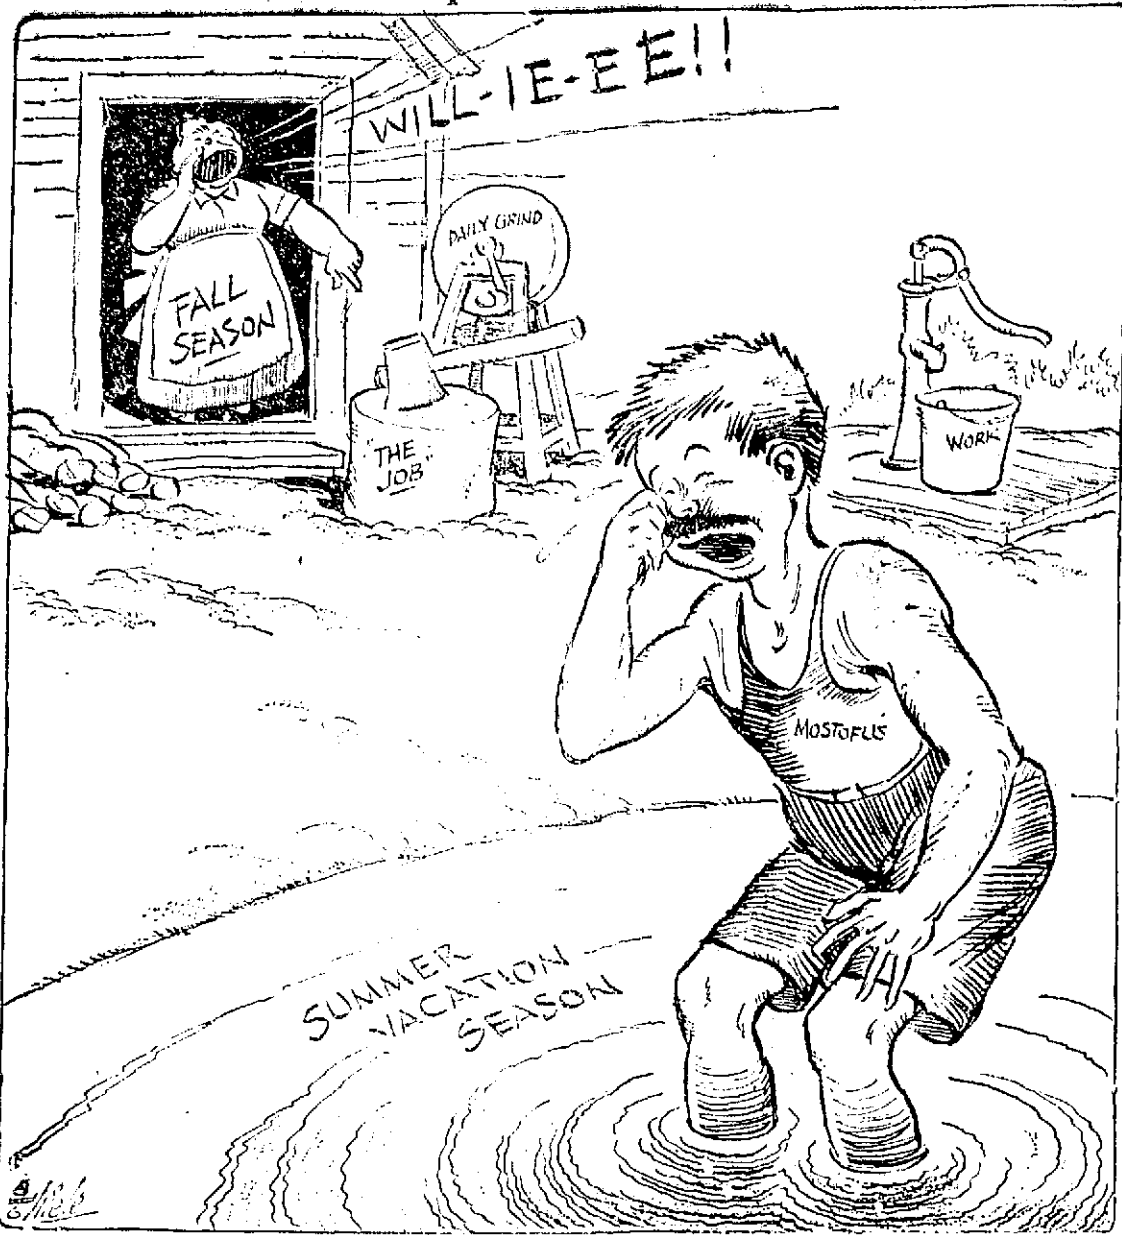

Within sound of his voice is the place where Benjamin Franklin first set type for the oldest journal in America. Behind him is a park where the Indians made a market-place to sell the produce of the wilderness in exchange for goods from England that were stacked in bales along the wharves of Front Street. And before him rises this new building of bronze and steel and Indiana limestone . . . a modern meeting-place where commerce formulates its messages to be broadcast through all the racing channels of the Press.

We wish the newsboy well! For Franklin was a printer's devil; and Edison hawked papers in the street! Yet Franklin helped his country win political and commercial independence. And Edison saw it rise to a world dominance in industry and international trade. . . . What dazzling future will our newsboy see?

For industry and commerce have brought to their aid the power of the printed word in a manner undreamed of in other times. With advertising they have unlocked the minds and desires of millions . . . they have opened the understanding of literate humanity to the commodities and services that all the world has to offer . . . they have made us all neighbors, talking a universal language.

What does the future hold for American business? . . . We know, at least, that the feared cycles of alternating prosperity and depression are going way to a belief in an orderly progressive prosperity based on the sound fundamentals of a broad and diversified market capable of taking up the slack of local depressions . . . but, more important than this, we know that the power of the press as a tool of commerce and industry is a sound means of gauging the possibilities of a market in advance! And the importance of advertising increases with the prosperity it helps to create!—Advertisement of N. W. Ayer & Son, advertising counselors, in the Saturday Evening Post.

September Mourn!

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—The Anti-Saloon League, reporting on prohibition conditions over the country in its 1929 year book, prefaces its reports on each state with citation of presidential election results for last November, regarding the greatly preponderant number of Hoover victories as triumphs for prohibition.

Reports of the state leagues, which are being summarized in this and a previous story, sometimes fail to describe enforcement conditions from the dry standpoint in state where the league opinion might be the most interesting. Thus, the Michigan league, doubt-smuggling from Ontario, fails to less aware of extensive liquor mention that situation.

Other state reports, continued in brief, are:

Minnesota—A new wet congressman was elected, with reduction of wet strength in state House of Representatives. Observance of state's temperance instruction law leaves much to be desired.

Mississippi—State law limits possession of liquor to one quart.

Missouri—Now has one dry senator and 13 drys among 16 congressmen and a drastic state enforcement law.

Montana—Drys fighting to recede to repeal the state enforcement ground lost in popular referendum laws in 1926 and defeat of proposal for new law in 1928.

Nebraska—State enforcement officers have recently noticeably increased their activity, resulting in more convictions and heavier penalties.

Nevada—Enforcement badly handicapped through lack of state law. State has fewer than 40 churches which cramp Anti-Saloon League.

New Hampshire—Enforcement officers are doing good work, but state supreme court decision has made it practically impossible to deal with bootleggers on charge of illegal possession.

New Jersey—Dry look forward to a reasonable degree of enforcement as a result of Governor Larson's election.

New Mexico—Nothing to worry about.

New York—Has been the storm center of opposition for prohibition. Enforcement situation not likely to change without enactment of a state dry law.

North Dakota—Wets plan to promote another referendum in 1930 after narrow defeat in 1928.

Ohio—Enforcement made more difficult by court decision against jurisdiction of mayors and justices of peace in violation and overwhelming defeat of proposed drastic enforcement law.

Oklahoma—State enforcement code has been strengthened from time to time.

Oregon—Enforcement condition improving, despite some difficulties.

Pennsylvania—Better control over industrial alcohol and closing of some illicit breweries.

Rhode Island—Has always been a large consumer of beverage liquor. State police have greatly strengthened enforcement.

South Carolina—Enforcement conditions improving steadily.

South Dakota—Enforcement with more and heavier sentences, fairly good, lacking appropriations.

Texas—Shows a 225 percent increase in number of imprisoned bootleggers.

Virginia—More fines and more stills and liquor seized. Trial and conviction under state law quicker and more certain than under Volstead's considerably improved in Washington. Enforcement continued last three years.

Wisconsin—Most recent of the state to repeal enforcement laws. Continues to be a "center of anti-prohibition agitation."

Wyoming—No gain; no loss. Drys anticipate better days.

BARBS

President Hoover expresses pleasure that no nickname has been fastened upon him since he entered the White House. He'd better be careful with his talk. We knew a rather heavy-set gentleman back home the folks used to call "Pudgy."

Columbia University is making records of all American dialects. Something ought to be done about translating the utterances of train callers.

By any stretch of the imagination, could these regular visits of Harry Lauder to America be called close calls.

If you think talk is cheap just look at any of the recent financial reports of the telephone company.

Then there's the lady next door who thinks settlement work is just some kind of new-fangled kind of bill collector.

Sometimes it's pretty hard for people to recover from the effects of their vacation daze.

The Twenty-Third Psalm

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; He leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul; He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for Thou art with me; Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me. Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies; Thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life; and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

Buttonholed By Billy Gear and Here's What He Handed Out As News

Veteran Contract Man With Amusement Concession At Fair Tells A Few Secrets About What Folks Can Expect All Next Week.

The life of a newspaper man is just a series of one thing after another. All of which he endures manfully, picking and choosing his material with what he may think is rare judgment.

But then up comes Billy Gear or any one of a thousand others just like him. Elk-Shrine, Dokey, W. O. W. or what have you? It's all the same. They belong. And in this instance there's another reason: Gear is an old newspaper man, known to most of the fraternity over the country.

First off, he got started talking of Billick's Gold Medal Shows. "Biggest show of its kind on earth or elsewhere," he declared. "Thirty cars, 460 people, trucks, caterpillars and horses—and when we set up on a five-acre plot of ground we go off the lot to change our minds."

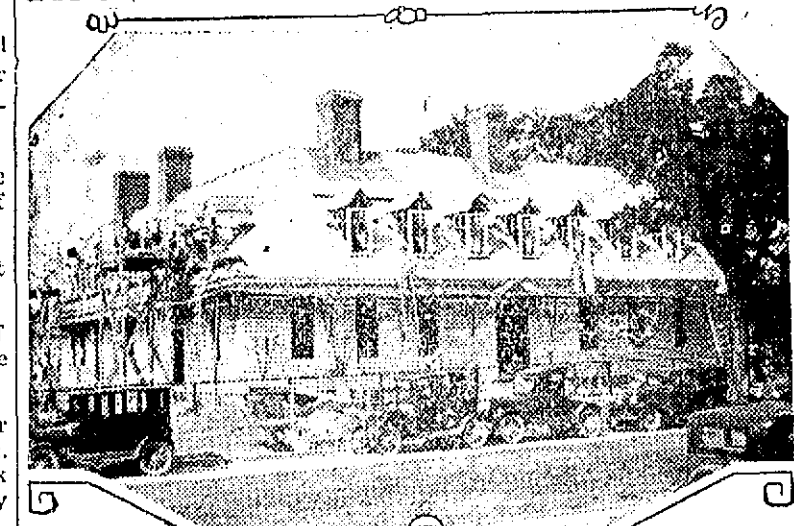

"And, buddy, we got everything! There are 16 shows, not counting any concessions or free acts. And in these shows you find some real talent. Our big Dixie Minstrels carries two blues singers entirely familiar to radio fans over the country, and both end men are straight from the big time in the East to make the winter season with us."

"Jack Clark, secured from the Chicago Athletic Stadium is athletic director in our big show where we will introduce you to some mighty good boys. And then you can go over to the Hawaiian show—ukes and grass skirts and everything!"

A frolic row, did you say? Bring the kiddies and come on. There's the Whip, the Giggler, the High Tower, the Caterpillar, the Kiddies Rides, Chairplane and the most expensive Merry-Go-Round and the biggest Big Eli Ferris Wheel carried by any carnival company on tour."

Then Billy borrowed a chow of the editorial twist, asked where he could get a slice of watermelon, and sauntered on down the street. Of course, all this he told us was in confidence. He never expected to see it in print! Press agents are usually that way.

NOVY SLIDES

Henry L. Farrell

Mr. Josef Paul Kukuskas, the soft-voiced god of the resined arena is blooming again. We mean Jack Sharkey is broadcasting.

Jack checked in at Gus Wilson's camp at Orangeburg, N. J., the other day to begin training for his bout with Tommy Loughran at Yankee Stadium Sept. 26. The first thing Jack worked out was his vocal cords. Though he has been shy on habits and fundamentals since Dempsey smacked him over, it is apparent that Jack's high-geared broadcasting station has been impaired in no way.

"The heavyweight championship will be safe for America while old Jack Sharkey is around to defend it," said he modestly. "And I'm going to knock this Loughran guy for a loop, believe me."

With that as a fair starter, here are a few more gems of purest gab serene culled from the chatter of the Loquacious Lith:

"If they ever put Campolo in here in the ring with me, they'd better put a net around it, otherwise that big horse is going to be knocked into some ringsider's lap."

The Von "eat Chin"
"Von Porat- How could anybody miss a chi like that. It's so big it gets in his own way. If he ever stuck his head out of a train window there would be nine red lanterns on it before he could pull it in."

"Schmelling is correctly named. The best Germans I ever saw were tumblers."

"Loughran is a fencer and that's my meat. He will be easy for me."

If Jack really means all he says and goes i uthere and fights he will be hard for Loughran or anybody else to beat. A great deal of his ring generalship, however, has been the kind the wife's mother bestows on the gent who breezes in late from the office and slightly lit, namely, 98-pound gglars. What Rule for Lehoureun.

In the approaching world series, a young man, who has been up and down between minors and majors more times than Texas Guinan has been raided, is likely to play an unexpected part. The fellow we mean is Bevo Lebourven, who Connie Mack recalled the other day from Milwaukee. Bevo is a great ball player, if you take the word of old Kid Elkeyfield, who has looked over a lot of them, man and boy during the years he has been following the game. Bevo has been 11 years in baseball, but never seems quite good enough to up. He's a wicked lad with the bat. Maybe Mack will use him as a pinch hitter against those nasty Chicago right-handers.

There in the Gallery
During the national amateur at Cible Beach, a well-set figure trotted here and there among the galleryites, one of the crowd, the few people knew him. The man was Jim Thorpe, the greatest Indian ballback, of the greatest In-rlinen of all time.
